Three Days of Rain Flood
Fields of War.

Motion Pass is Occupied by Japs Unopposed.

Columns Advancing on the Russians Who Retreat.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

GEN. KUROKAWA'S HEADQUARTERS

IN THE FIELD. [By Asiatic Cable]

Via Fusan, June 20. [Delayed in transmission.]

The Japanese occupied

Motion Pass today, unopposed. The Russians abandoned three strong lines of earthworks on the hills, commanding

the entrance to the pass.

The foreign military attaché accompanying the Japanese army expresses surprise that the Russians offered no resistance. It is regarded as probable that the Russians feared that their line of retreat would be blocked by other divisions of the Japanese army.

Three days downpour of rain has made the whole country resemble a big lake, and has delayed transportation. Notwithstanding this, the advance is continuing.

COLUMNS ON THE MARCH.

RUSSIANS ALMOST ROUTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. F. Knight, the World's war correspondent, cables the following:

"ON THE MARCH IN MAN-

CHURIA." With Japanese forces, June 22, via Fusan (Korea) July 2.—The column of Japanese troops which I am accompanying is steadily advancing against the Russian army. The Japanese outmaneuvered the Russians by means of a turning movement, and after offering some slight resistance, the Russians retreated, almost in the condition of a rout, burning their stores before abandoning their strongly-fortified positions on the watershed south of Motion Pass. The force with which I am marching is moving up the Peking Road without encountering opposition, and apparently will be able to close Motion Pass without difficulty."

RUSSIAN "OFFICIAL NEWS."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 4, 4:30 a.m.—Official news up to July 2, indicates that the Japanese advance from the south has been suspended, along with all other important movements at the seat of war. The authorities do not expect much more than desultory skirmishing until the weather improves. The situation is considered satisfactory from the Russian standpoint.

There is evidence of considerable sickness in the Japanese camps. It is expected here that the Japanese will suffer more from the rainy weather than will Gen. Kurokawa's forces.

One of the most striking features of the situation is the lack of naval news from the Russian side. It is pointed out that if the fleets had gone out, such news would be naturally slow in coming through Russian sources.

JAPS OCCUPY KAIPING.

RUSSIANS HAVE FALLEN BACK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

CHIEFOO, July 2, 2:55 p.m.—[By Asiatic Cable.] A small Japanese force occupied Kaiping June 23, and found that the Russians had fallen back to Ta Tche Kiao. The Japanese expect that a big battle will be fought at Ta Tche Kiao, but in other quarters it is believed that the Russians probably will retreat to Liao Yang, as otherwise they would be off at Haicheng by the Tukushan division of the Japanese army. It is pointed out that this already has occurred, as the Tukushan division was within striking distance of Haicheng a week ago.

The Russian authorities at New-chwang are enforcing a strict censorship over news messages. This is taken to indicate the possibility of an unexpected movement on the part of the Russians, who are west of the railroad in conjunction with the force now at New-chwang.

With the exception that the Japanese navy assisted the army in capturing some heights near Port Arthur, June 20, no additional details of the recent activities around the Russian stronghold have been received here.

The Chinese government is adopting stringent measures to prevent the shipping of contraband of war from this port. Two Russians were arrested as they were leaving a junk loaded with provisions for Port Arthur.

KAMIMURA MET IT.

VLADIVOSTOK FLEET RETIRED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

SEOUL, July 2, 7:50 p.m.—[By Asiatic Cable.] It has been announced here officially that Vice-Admiral Kamimura met the Russian Vladivostok squadron late Friday night near Iki Island, about sixty miles north of Nakhodka. The Russian squadron consisted of three cruisers and the torpedo-boat flotilla evidently having returned to Vladivostok after the bombardment of Gensan, June 20. Vice-Admiral Kamimura was in superior force. He opened fire and the Russians replied, but at the same time they fled to the northeast with the Japanese vessels in pursuit.

No reports have been received here recently of fog at sea, and it is believed that the pursuit still continues, or that a decisive engagement has been fought.

Rioting at Street.

BREST (France) July 2.—Rioting took place here today during a parade of the 10th regiment, which drew the gendarmerie, who were wounded. Ten of the strikers were wounded. Many of the strikers were arrested.

THE VERY LATEST. WAR NEWS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

VLADIVOSTOK, July 2.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Many Japanese fishermen, taken from schooners in the recent raid of the Vladivostok squadron, were sent to Irkutsk today.

It is reported that the Japanese are having considerable difficulty with their large fleet of transports. They are said to be sparing no money and have monopolized all the free steamers in the Far East, German and Norwegian vessels being given preference.

One of the wounded Japanese prisoners who died was buried today. The coffin was covered with the Japanese flag and with wreaths given by the Russian sailors. A detachment of Siberian Rifles formed an escort, and military music was rendered.

There are no signs of the Japanese in this region. A typhoon is raging.

SUN WILL DRY ROADS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

LIAO YANG, July 2.—The whole of Manchuria seems to have turned into a marsh, and the weather almost precludes a movement by either side.

It is reported that the Japanese are near Liao Yang, and a battle is expected when the weather permits. The country is such that a few days of sun will dry the roads. It is reported that 20,000 Japanese are working toward Mukden, but this is scarcely credited.

WHERE WEATHER IS DRY.

LONDON, July 4.—According to a dispatch to the Central News from Mukden, dated July 3, it is reported that the Japanese are moving two divisions upon Liao Yang, from Fen Su Pass.

ARMENIAN REGULARS AND SLAUGHTER MAY BECOME GENERAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

LONDON, July 4.—By Atlantic Cable. In connection with the cablegram which American Secretary of State Hay received from Isphahan, Persia, July 2, signed by "Armenian Bishop in Persia," saying that "Turkish barbarians were massacring innocent Americans," humbly soliciting the United States government in the name of Armenia, and humanity, to save innocent lives.

The Daily Chronicle this morning prints the following telegram dated Tauris, Persia, June 30:

"It is announced from perfectly reliable sources that in the vicinity of Van (a former city of Turkish Armenia) on June 24, Kurds and Turkish regulars attacked Armenian travelers, killing them as revolutionaries. This is the beginning of a general massacre in the province of Van. The people are in terror."

RUSSIAN CRUELTY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Japanese legation today received the following dispatch from Tokio:

"The chief of staff of the Second Army telegrams as follows:

"On the 15th of June, the chief of staff of the 18th Infantry Regiment, encountered, while scouting, about fifteen Russian troops at Cheng-Tai Shan, and were killed after a short combat. On the death of these men, the Russians thrust their bayonets into their mouths and cut open their lungs and took away the contents of their pockets."

At the village of Tapizle, the treasure chest was washed away by the flood, and a soldier of the guardship ran into the water after it, crying "My place is with the box." The soldier and the treasure box were driven by the current into the sea, and the Russians followed him.

Soldiers were seen marching about barefooted and naked, part of the command moving into a new camp.

The place took four hours to cover two miles.

FRESH CALL FOR TROOPS.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 4, 7:30 a.m.—The Official Messenger publishes a call for a fresh mobilization of troops in the district of St. Petersburg. The call does not indicate how many men will be affected.

SURRENDER? PORT ARTHUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

TOKIO, July 4, 11 a.m.—It is reported that Russia has, through France, offered to surrender Port Arthur to Japan, together with its ships and arms there, providing that dynasticity is very prevalent among the Japanese troops.

On June 27, the Russians destroyed two Japanese guns and a caisson. There

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.
PENDLETON (Or.) July 3.—A terrible wind and rainstorm swept over this section of the country this afternoon, doing very heavy damage to the wheat crop and to city property. The weather official reports two inches of rain in twenty-four hours.

The Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company's tracks were washed out for several hundred yards, but traffic was only delayed a few hours. Cellars were flooded, and the streets and yards were ruined. No loss of life has yet been reported. The estimated damage to city property alone is $20,000.

FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDE.
TRAMP DEAD—TRAINMEN HURT.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES:
SACRAMENTO, July 3.—(Exclusive Dispatch) A head-on collision between the freight trains of the Southern Pacific road near Blue Cañon this morning resulted in the death of an unknown tramp who was riding the brake and injury to Engineer C. A. Fagan and Brakeeman W. L. Bohannon. Both engines were damaged, and the snowshed in which the accident took place was demolished for about a hundred feet. Twelve freight cars were derailed. Traffic was interrupted for ten hours.

The injured men were removed to Sacramento for treatment. Fagan was badly shaken up, and his back was sprained severely. Bohannon suffered a severe scalp wound. The dead tramp was taken to Auburn, where the Coroner of Placer county will hold an inquest.

The accident was due to a misunderstanding of orders on the part of the trainmen. The trains were running at the ordinary rate of speed, and came together in the snowshed, after rounding a slight curve.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.
AUBURN, July 3.—A disastrous freight train wreck occurred in the Sierra Nevada, three miles this side of the early this morning. The train No. 20, westbound, and No. 19, eastbound, collided with "tremendous force," Miss A. Lamp named W. L. Bohannon, engineer, injuring the engineer, and killing him. The front end of the train was demolished, two cars were up and five thoroughly mangled from the Stanford ranch killed. The accident is said to have been due to a confusion in orders.

BURGLAR SHOT HIM.

SAN JOSE, July 3.—As the result of a pistol wound inflicted by a burglar who was robbing his house last night, J. V. Adams died today. Three suspects are in jail, but there is no real clue for the police to work on.

CONVENTION STRAWS.

ST. LOUIS, July 3.—Gorman, Jr., brought a letter from his father to Senator Davis, the contents of which were not stated. A report was circulated that the letter authorized Davis to take Gorman's name out of the Presidential discussion, but Davis said this was not true.

It is expected that a formal announcement will be made tomorrow that Senator Gorman is a candidate. Meanwhile, efforts are being made to keep "favorite sons" in the field. Gorman's friends are trying to get Pennsylvania to vote for ex-Gov. Pattison, as to prevent Parker's nomination. Some of the Hearst delegates have been in conference with Gorman's friends, and have assured them that the Maryland Senator had supporters among the Hearst men.

David Bennett Hill, who says he is running Parker's boom, was sitting in his room in the Southern Hotel today, when a newspaper correspondent asked him if he was still for Gorman. "Say," said Hill, "a few days ago I started out down the streets of my town with a long fish pole over my shoulder. I had not gone far before a fellow met me, and asked: 'Say, Senator, you going fishing?'

"No, you fool," I said, "I am going down here to maul some rails with this fish pole."

Your correspondent asked a lanky, rangy delegate from Illinois today who he thought was the Hearst boy. He said: "One of our sons, a month ago, got very full and had the Jim-Jams. They took me to a room and put me to bed. After a while I thought I saw a great pink elephant in the room. The elephant was so big filled the entire room. Well, sir, that pink elephant was just about to step on me when it commenced to back, and damn me if it didn't disappear through the keyhole of the door. That's where the Hearst boom has gone."

It is understood that Watson will not attend the convention, and the friends of Allen believe that after the latter makes his Fourth of July speech tomorrow at the State Arsenal there will be a stand-off among the delegates to the Nebraskan.

in the Catholic faith in the old Plaza Church at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, and from the moment the carriage hurried him to his home behind the fig trees on Alhambra avenue until after midnight this morning his wife, five friends, relatives and friends made glad out under a grapevine-grown pergola after an ancient, gay fashion so much more genuine and next to the heart than you can ever dream of conducting an affair, that it was a binding ritual com- pared therewith.

Alhambra avenue is a rail-ugled, rumbling, smoke-driven highway of modern traffic; but off from this road, just here, are the quiet spots of peace, where homes have found sheltering anchorage. Some of them, though they fly the Stars and Stripes as loyally as any, and gladly by assuming rights of their own shores of liberty, are craft from another shore, with pretty customs not native to the port.

The principal of the typical Italian christening yesterday really mingled the fun of the things for he slept through the delights of the olive-oiled relishes and native wines, the imported bologna and the ravioli, the cheese-sprinkled soup, and the entrees that have no equivalent in the English language; the chicken and the meats; the

The old custom was carried out in its portion at the Zuchelli's yesterday. The long table was spread in the shade of a grapevine arbor on the home grounds, No. 1021 Alhambra avenue.

At the christening, prior to the festivities, A. Zuchelli and Miss C. Zuchelli stood as godfather and godmother, respectively, to the child.

THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.WORK THAT THIS GOVERNMENT
BUREAU HAS DONE.

Early Researches of Maj. Powell in the Canyon of the Colorado and His Predictions—How Millions of Dollars Might Have Been Saved to the Country.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES:
WASHINGTON, July 1.—When Abram S. Hewitt, a Representative from New York, made a speech in Congress supporting a bill to create the Geological Survey, he dwelt little upon irrigation, but he prophesied far-reaching good to be derived from an exhaustive survey of the country's land and water resources.

He said, "I never contemplated the great maps of the United States which hang in these halls," he said, "or consider the material resources of this broad continent without a deep feeling of wonder, love and praise."

The creation of this government bureau, twenty-five years ago, was the beginning of national irrigation. In fact it was the result of the indomitable efforts of the first American to foresee that the water and land resources of the West would be developed by the Federal government.

The early geological researches of Maj. John W. Powell and his exploration of the vast cañons of the Colorado and its many tributaries, from the Continental Divide 2,000 miles to its mouth in the Gulf of California, along with the explorations and investigations of other great water courses, led him to conclude that irrigation was indeed in its infancy, that a manifest destiny awaited our great region and that the waters of our great rivers, the Colorado, Columbia, Snake, the Colorado, and the Missouri would be, in time, controlled by the hand of man and made to support millions of people.

The waters of rivers, he said, controlled by him, were to be used for irrigation that was wild clouds. Maj. Powell was an explorer in the broadest sense. Of course the stupendous Cañon of the Colorado was known to him and tried to go before he saw it, but his expedition was the first which conquered its rushing eddies and whirlpools and traversed its four sources to mouth. His surveys and notes of his great work were the first authentic data compiled.

And after Maj. Powell became the head of the Geological Survey, it was his young men who were sent out for specific work for exploration and survey, which reduced the Great American Desert, mysterious and terrifying, into a region of known and definite boundaries and dimensions.

Congress appropriated over $1 million and a quarter dollars prior to the passage of the national irrigation act. So that law, instead of finding a region which required a decade of careful surveys and stream gauging before definite work could be undertaken, found a bureau not only fully equipped, but possessed of data which made it enable it to almost immediately proceed with the giant work of desert reclamation.

The survey, through its hydrographic work, has been able to determine the fifteen years the flows of all the more important rivers, and, for shorter periods, of all the lesser tributaries of the many hundreds of streams finding their sources in the high mountains of the Rockies and the Sierras. The physical characteristics of the river basins have been studied and a vast amount of data has been accumulated, from which it is possible to determine the volume of run-off of each of the streams. The Survey has topographically mapped in more or less detail, nearly one million square miles of the area of the United States.

Numerous problems have been solved by the hydrographers and the engineers in their years of preparation for the great government work—the question of the most economical way of storage and flood control, of erosion and the salt and sediment carried in the streams, of forest protection of reservoir sites and irrigable lands.

The Survey's finding of most of the western streams has already been diverted and utilised for the smaller irrigation works of individuals. The problem now confronting the government is to find out how to use the large government works will require expensive storage reservoirs, including immense dams and long tunnels.

The flood flow of these rivers is usually tremendous.

As investigation of how much money is carried by different people is a safeguard against the unforeseen emergency, it is important that the amount be known on always to afford some prize.

In a group of six men who compete in a downtown cat's cradle, the amount of money won is $25,550, making an average of $4,250 for each man; but of this amount one man carries a $30 bill in his pocket and another a $5 bill. A third man carries a $10 bill in his pocket piece in his watch pocket, which was sufficient to send a telegram or use a telephone. These four carried a sum total of 20 cents in their pockets.

"I have 20 cents loose in my pocket," said the next witness, "may be $2 or $3 tomorrow, and the day some other sum. I never regard him with a mix

"This is all I have," said the man, "but I am the only one of the party, and he held me exchange tickets. I've always to give it for granted that in case of need I would be able to raise money, even if I had to borrow it from the policeman or the street-car conductor." —Philadelphia Record.

Dedication of the Memorial to Prof. Le Conte.

IN THE YOSEMITE.

DENVER, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dedication ceremonies opened the Le Conte memorial lodge here this morning at 8:30.

The building was decorated with flags, and a large crowd was in attendance. Members of the Sierra Club, which selected the site, President John Muir and President Elliott McAllister being to attend. William E. Colby, president of the club, presided. The interview was by Rev. Clarence F. Lawson, who carries on Prof. Le Conte's geological work at the State University and on an address. He told of the history of the structure from Prof. Le Conte's friends to him, and also to have a center about the high Sierras was chosen. Its beauty and fidelity to Le Conte's original place that, as yet, the work is not yet been installed, nor has it been stocked.

Prof. Rodman, Alex G. Rodman, of the University Alumni Association, made the address of the day. Prof. Le Conte as his student, and in his place, he cannot explain the character of man. In himself he was more methods. Men of science and their work higher than science. Prof. Le Conte never taught. Science is a religion of learning whose teachers are not mere dispensers of knowledge, but fitting to dedicate this simple manner. He Ane Florentine, who resides at No. 1456 North Main, and Hananir, who lives at No. 1020 North Main, were riding tandem north on Broadway at a speed in excess of that allowed by the city ordinance. They were probably going at a rate of fifteen miles an hour, and, in the course of their ride struck Harry Smith, knocking him unconscious. Without stopping to see whether the boy was hurt or not, the scorchers attempted to escape arrest at the hands of the police. A sudden blockade in the tandem into collision with an automobile, and the officer succeeded in catching the foolhardy miscreants, who were taken to the Police Station.

Yama at No. 504 Turner street, only a few doors away, was also found to be on fire. More rags and oil were added to the flames and at this place and the flames blazed up rapidly. Many Japanese in the neighborhood had been aroused by the fire and when the second alarm was given the fire department was on the scene. The section became thoroughly excited. Yama and his friends succeeded in putting out the blaze before great damage was done. A third fire in a Japanese house on the corner of Tenth and Broadway occurred at 2:30 a.m. but the fire was caused by a gasoline stove. The damage to building and contents amounted to $200.

HEART HAS BAD RECORD.

Slayer of Kerns Has Been in Trouble Before.

Once Broke Jail and Later Stabbed a Man.

Officers Expect to Prove the Killing Was Murder.

Detectives who are investigating the killing of Thomas Kerns by J. W. Heart, which occurred in a rooming-house at No. 307 Maple avenue Saturday night, believe that Heart is guilty of it. The boy was in the room at the time and the boy had a revolver in his pocket, as the concussion was heavy enough to blow a hole in the wooden partition. A fire alarm was sent in from box No. 288, if being feared the building would burn.

Thomas' record was looked up by the police yesterday and it was found to be bad; on the other hand, Kerns is alleged to have been a quiet, peaceful citizen, who would always avoid a difficulty if it was possible to do so.

Detective Benedict is thoroughly familiar with the murderer's past, and he it was who arrested him at the point of a Winchester rifle when the latter reached for his revolver. Heart was three years old when he had broken jail, where he was awaiting trial on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

ENCOTATED FROM JAIL.

Heart was arrested on that charge in 1888 and was confined in the old jail, which then stood on the spot now occupied by the People's Store. The prisoner dug a hole through the wall of the building and escaped the high walls of the surrounding jail. He had a vigilance of the officers and remained at large for over three years. Heart's escape puzzled the Sheriff's men greatly at the time, and the exact methods employed in cutting the hole and scaling the wall were never discovered.

COVERED WITH A WINCHESTER.

In 1888 Detective Benedict learned that Heart was living at The Palms with his aunt, Mrs. Tibbitts, and securing the old papers in the assault case, he went down to arrest the man. Benedict found the boy at The Palms and he resisted arrest, and it was said that he would shoot an officer on sight if one should attempt to take him. Believing these statements, Benedict took no chances and captured Heart when he went out in the yard early in the morning to wash his face. The officer covered his man with the rifle and did not relax his vigilance until he had been disarmed and safely landed in jail again.

When the trial came up Heart sprung a surprise on the prosecution by pleading the statute of limitation, which he did not know.

A third assault case was presented to the court, and when it was explained fully to anyone calling at the People's Store.

HE LIKED PIE.

Intoxicated Man Raided a Restaurant and Was Thrashed by Two Japanese, Then Arrested.

Fred Woodworth's love for pie got him into a peak of trouble last night. Woodworth entered a restaurant on Broadway near First street and helped himself to a pie on the counter and after disposing of one luscious tart, another was attacked. Then instead of paying for his entertainment, Woodworth went over to the cash register and took a look inside when he thought no one was looking. Two Japanese employees saw Woodworth's actions and without awaiting any orders the little brown men jumped on him and made a floor mop of him. One Japanese employee, however, was so badly injured justly for help. The fellow was permitted to leave the place, but a few minutes later he returned and then an officer was called in and Woodworth was locked up.

SAW NO KNIFE.

Louis M. Quinn was a first man to enter the kitchen in which Kerns was shot, says that he made a search for the knife alleged to have been used by the dead man, but he could find no knife. Detectives Quinn, Rich and Davis, who worked on the case yesterday, say that they searched the house thoroughly and that no sign of a knife could be found.

Many of the roomers at the house and friends of Kerns felt bitter against Heart, and they, in their turn, were equally as bitter at the inquest that Kerns was murdered. The coroner was called in and an inquest at Bresler Bros. Tuesday afternoon.
